OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

EXCITING - DRAMATIC-TERRIFIC...One sort of runs out of descriptive adjectives to describe the bombshell dropped by Fred Sahadi last week at the study session in the city hall.

We refer, of course, to the once-in-a-life-time proposal that would put Campbell's new civic center into the first five floors of a 17-story "tower" that would be adjacent to a unique cultural-commercial center at Bascom and Campbell Avenues on the former 40-acre Brynteson Ranch.

In our opinion, it is the greatest opportunity this city has ever had to establish a unique point of identity.

In one fell swoop the "image" of Campbell, long a bothersome irritant to those of us who live here, would be drastically changed for the better.

No other city in the world of Campbell's population class, for example, has its city hall housed in a 17-story building.

At least we have not heard of any. Have you?

IT IS NATURAL THAT there should be a certain amount of skepticism on the part of many people. It is so fantastic that it sounds almost unbelievable.

There are so many ramifications to the situation that one's imagination can have a field day.

First it must be established that the project as presented is entirely legal.

This should be easy to do.

It sounds too good to be true, especially to those of us who are aware that nothing in this life is free.

Many want to know "what's the gimmick behind the deal" that Sahadi is offering.

There is no "gimmick", as far as we know.

But let's not kid ourselves.

It is a good deal also for Sahadi and the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co.

It will give Campbell a tremendous point of identity...

Can't you visualize that "tower" dominating the entire valley? But the developers will also benefit from it.

The steel company will get to use a fabricated 17-story superstructure that has been in storage for four years. (Apparently there aren't too many around who are in the market for that kind of a product.)

UNDER THE PROPOSAL the upper 12 floors of the "tower" would be leased back to the developers. (Sahadi and the steel firm).

Over a period of years they will get their dough back. At the end of the lease period, the city gets the whole ball of wax.

And remember there is a $1.2 million in city bond money that would be applied on the deal.

Although it will not cost us any more in taxes, admittedly it does tax the imagination....

Of course, this is not the first time in our community's history that imagination has been used...But in the past there always has been something lacking in trying to reach the dream, mainly money....

This is the first time that we can recall, that imagination has had the necessary wherewithal to go with it, which could turn a dream into reality.

It is difficult not to be excited about it.

Isn't it? (Or had you NOTICED?)

A VIVID IMAGINATION, it has been said, is an ingredient that is necessary if one is to envision the Campbell civic center "tower" and the cultural-commercial center that it will adjoin.

Imagination, of course, is the act of forming mental images or ideal creations that are consistent with reality.

We have long been of the opinion that imagination is GAVEL EXCHANGE–Mayor Bill Smeed (left) who was named by his fellow councilmen to serve as mayor of Campbell for a year receives the gavel of office from former Mayor Ed Rogers at the organization meeting of the City Council. Smeed became this city's ninth mayor.

Both Smeed (for a second term) and Rogers (for a third term) were reelected to the City Council on April 9. Dean Chamberlin, a planning commissioner, was elected to the other council office that was up for grabs.

City Hall 'tower' stirs community

Whether it is "legal and feasible" to locate the civic center complex in a 17-story tower on the former Brynteson Ranch property at Campbell and Bascom avenues may be determined shortly by a staff report under the direction of City Manager Bob Stephens.

On Monday night the City Council by a unanimous vote directed staff to proceed with further investigation and study of the dramatic proposal made last week by Fred Sahadi. He suggested that the civic center take over the first five floors of a 17-story building that would be located adjacent to a unique early Californian-styled commercial-cultural center.

In instructing the staff to proceed with the investigation and study, it was specified that the staff work would not be part of the "701" planning program, subsidized by a federal grant.

The first public hearing on the "701" plan will be next Monday, April 29, at 8 p.m. when land use plans for three specific areas will be presented

The proposal by Sahadi, who is the third largest taxpayer within the city limits, was made at a study session last week directly after the City Council had organized for the new year. Councilman Bill Smeed was elected mayor and Councilman Homer Hyde, vice-mayor.

At the city election on April 9, Smeed and Councilman Ed Rogers were reelected to the City Council (Smeed for his second term, Rogers for his third).

Also elected was Dean Chamberlin, a planning commissioner, who led the field in the voting in the municipal election.

Sahadi's sensational bombshell dropped last week, has stirred the community and created more civic interest than any other project in recent local history.

Many citizens, however, have viewed the proposal with skepticism maintaining that it was "too good to be true" and wondered "what was behind it".

Under Sahadi's proposal, the city would get clear title to the entire 17-story building, although the civic center would take up only the first five floors. The upper 12 stories would be leased back to Sahadi and his "partner" in the venture, Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel.

The 17-story steel superstructure that would be used in the building was originally fabricated for a building project that did not materialize. It has been in storage in Santa Clara for the last four years.

Obviously there are not too many prospects in the field for 17-story buildings, so apparently the price for the superstructure was right and, in addition, apparently the steel company is willing to join with Sahadi in financing the complete building.

Under Sahadi's suggestion, the city would pay $1,200,000 (the amount of the capital improvement bonds specified for the civic center-library in last fall's election) for the building.

The first five floors would be the civic center, the top 12 leased back to Sahadi and the steel firm who in turn would lease out the space. Conceivably over a period of

Hearing reviews city's future plan

Specific land use plans for areas within the City of Campbell will be considered at a public hearing called by the Planning Commission at the city hall for next Monday, April 29, at 8 p.m.

The hearing next Monday is the first that has been scheduled based on the study prepared by Charles Cavanagh, planning consultant, financed in part through a federal urban renewal grant.

The City of Campbell for the purpose of the land use study has been divided into three specific areas. Area I extends west of Winchester Blvd. between the north-south city limits and is tabbed the "San Tomas Expressway Area".

Area II is the "Central City Area" and extends west from the freeway to Winchester between Camden on the south and just north of Hamilton.

Area III is the "San Tomas Area" and includes that area west of Winchester south of Hazelwood and Budd.

The report as submitted by the planning consultant will include recommendations as what type of zoning should be adopted for all areas within the city limits. It also includes a report on traffic circulation plans, including the proposed "downtown loop" system.

Under the "loop" plan, there would be two new streets, one north of Campbell and one south of the street, between Winchester Blvd. and the railroad tracks.

The traffic pattern as recommended also specifies that Harriet Ave. be extended to the future West Valley Freeway and would become the "main north-south drag" for the San Tomas area instead of the San Tomas-Burrows route. Hacienda would be the main east-west thoroughfare.

The proposals that are being presented for public hearings and consideration of both the Planning Commission and City Council before being finally adopted will amend the "General Plan" of the City of Campbell that was adopted in January, 1961.

The main difference, city officials point out, between the new plan and the 1961 job is that the current recommendations are much more spe-

COMMISSIONER--Dale Scott, of 264 Radford Dr., Campbell, executive director of the Santa Clara County Taxpayers Association and active in the successful city bond campaign last year, was named to the Planning Commission on Monday night by the City Council.

Scott fills the vacancy created when Dean Chamberlin was elected to the City Council. Terms of two other commissioners, Jack Healey and Frank Klein, expire in August.

Storm drain causes use of new detours

Installation of the storm drain pipe in downtown Campbell Avenue began this week at the railroad tracks.

The contractor is expected to work steadily westward until reaching the westerly end of this installation at Second St., according to David N. Valkenaar, the city's project engineer.

The detours only affect east-bound traffic this week. When construction is in the block between Central Avenue and First St., traffic will be detoured down First St. and through the Sunsweet yard to Central Ave.

One-way traffic only will be allowed through the Sunsweet property when the detour is in effect.

The second new detour will send east-bound Campbell Ave. traffic south on Second St. and east on Everett to First St. While this detour is in effect, one-way traffic only will be allowed on Everett.

Motorists are advised to be alert to new "Stop" signs and "No Parking" signs in the construction and detour areas.

Storm drain work in Rincon Ave. is expected to be finished this week, according to Valkenaar.

Clean-up day May 4 gains support

Campbell's "Operation Clean-Up" which begins Saturday, May 4, with a "large item" pick-up of furniture, trash and small appliances, is gaining support from all parts of town.

Mrs. Courtland Watson, chairman of the citizens committee for civic beautification, spoke at Rolling Hills School with student representatives from Campbell, Cypress and Blackford Schools.

She urged them to return to their respective schools and ask for support in Campbell's clean-up campaign. Mrs. Watson is also asking residents to clean-up "eye-sore spots" in neighborhoods, as well as backyards and garages in an effort to beautify the community.

Bruce Stevenson, principal of Rolling Hills School, welcomed the representatives and talked about his hopes for planting the front yard around the Rolling Hills School.

Brett Wilson, cleanup committee chairman and Jan Wojciechowski, girl's commissioner from Rolling Hills School, explained their "clean up countdown" instituted six weeks ago.

After lunch each day there is a student inspection of the school yard. The ultimate award for a clean yard is a special event such as a dance or other social affair.

Ralph Dill, principal of Cypress School, explained "Project Pride", involving a gold garbage can which is a revolving trophy between Monroe, Rolling Hills and Cypress Schools. C. E. Bradley, Campbell school district business manager, said Campbell School District vandalism cost $15,000 last year.

Gene Borden, Campbell fire marshall, explained the Chamber of Commerce clean-up campaign and asked the support of all students.

Residents of Campbell wish ing to avail themselves of the "large-item pick-up" on May 4 may call City Hall, 378-8141, and ask for service or fill out the application in The Campbell Press.

There will be a picnic luncheon served to all volunteer workers on Saturday, May 4, at the Campbell City Park. Mrs. Dale Scott, chairman, is being assisted by members of the Campbell Garden Club, and other volunteer workers.

SWEARING IN--City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan for her eighth time "swore in" new councilmen last week after the votes of the city election on April 9 were verified.

Taking their oath of office (left to right) Bill Smeed (named mayor for the next year), Ed Rogers, who was elected to his third term and Dean Chamberlin, a former planning commissioner who was the leading vote-getter in the election. His tally of 1114 set a new record for Campbell.

Editorial

The "tower" concept

Campbell's long dormant civic pride, which came awake last year with the passage of the civic improvement bond issues, was further stimulated last week with the plan presented by Fred Sahadi for a city hall "tower".

Sahadi proposed that the civic center be located in the first five floors of a 17-story building that would be erected on the former Brynteson Ranch at Campbell and Bascom avenues. This choice 40-acre parcel was recently acquired by Sahadi.

The projected Campbell City Hall "tower", which would be the tallest building in Santa Clara County, would be an integrated part of the unique commercial-cultural center that Sahadi plans for 20 acres of the ranch.

The plans for the center are ambitious.

But the 17-story civic center office building is not only ambitious but also bold and breath taking...

If it is found that it is legal for the city to enter into special ownership agreement with Sahadi and all other wrinkles legal and otherwise can be ironed out, we unhesitatingly recommend that the city take advantage of the proposition.

In our opinion, it is a once-in-a-lifetime offer which will never present itself again.

Obviously all the pieces that are now involved in the "tower" idea could not possibly be present at any future date.

For example, how often do you think that the framework of a 17-story steel superstructure would be in storage and available at a bargain price because of a deal previously falling through?

Because of that happenstance, Sahadi and the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. are able to work together in a joint venture that not only will benefit them but also will be of even greater benefit to the City of Campbell.

Obviously it is to the advantage of both the steel firm and Sahadi that the civic center take over the first five floors of the building.

But there are some intangible advantages for this joint venture on which no price tag can be placed: (e.g.) traffic generated by a city hall for the center.... the identity for both the city and the center by "the tower"....the prestige factor....etc.

However, there are many advantages for both sides in dollars and cents which makes the deal one of those fantastically ideal arrangements that benefits all parties concerned....

But what we like more than anything (and again there is no price tag for this) is that this "tower" concept and the adjoining cultural-commercial center will change the image of Campbell completely in one fell swoop.

And for the better.

Those of us who have struggled all these years to change the "image" realize that after a decade or more of trying we have barely made a dent in the picture.

To change our "image", we have long realized that something different was needed...something unique... something that would make an impact...

The stereotyped civic center complex, as originally planned, would be efficient, satisfactory and a great improvement over the present situation...

But it would be just following a pattern used by hundreds of cities.

The "tower" plan is a completely new approach for the civic centers.

And this community has long-needed a new approach.

Dedicated service

The Campbell Press is pleased to commend former councilman and mayor, Charles Rose, for his 10 years of unselfish service on the City Council.

That Rose was defeated in his bid for reelection at the last city election, in our opinion, is completely immaterial to such a commendation.

No one has ever questioned Rose's dedication to the community in which he was born and in which he has long been prominent in business and development activities.

It was only a question of his philosophy as it pertained to a few basic civic issues which bothered some of his former supporters.....

Your editor especially is well aware of the hundreds of hours that Charlie Rose has given to his community..and of the dreams that he has had for the better ment of his community over the years.

Rose probably has devoted more time to civic affairs than any other person in our community.

In the 16 years this city has been incorporated, Charlie Rose, both on and off the council, has consistently been in the forefront in working for a better community in which to live and work.

We repeat that, in our opinion, it is immaterial, if we did not agree at all times with his concept or philosophy or approach.

The point we make is that Charles Rose has set a record of devoted civic service that very few will ever surpass or even equal.

We commend him for his distinguished record and sincerely hope that he will continue in the future to work for a better Campbell as he has done so ably in the past.

Our community has become too big to allow civic issues to become clouded by personal feelings.

There is too much at stake in the future for this city to allow that to happen.

All hands are needed, if we are to move forward.

lacking in many engineers who plan public works projects, especially those who deal with the "improvement" of creek channels as part of flood control work.

Admittedly those particular engineers are often assigned jobs of improving creek channels in which there is no room for imagination.

But, shucks, we have long felt that they could try a little harder to leave some of the natural beauty of the meandering creeks when they "improve" the channels.

We groaned when we saw that they (the engineers) had done to Los Gatos Creek through town. Another example is where San Tomas Creek divides the cities of Saratoga and Campbell in the new Leep sub-division off Pollard Road.

Sure, we know, we have no engineering knowledge.

We shouldn't be spouting off about something so technical.

We suppose that widening a channel of a picturesque creek by taking out stately 100-year-old trees and improving the flow of water by concreting the banks could be classified as "progress" in some circles.

And we concede that it is important to keep the creek water under control and between the banks and not buildings.

We know the engineers have a job to do.

But, darn it, we wish it was possible for them to check with the "engineers" that did the original work for Mother Nature's development.

It seems to us it would be difficult to improve the original project in most cases.

In looks, anyway.

FROM THE YOU-CAN'T-win-department..After the last City Council election, we have come to the conclusion that your editor was the only one who didn't win.

The endorsement on the eve of the election of three candidates (Bill Smeed, Ed Rogers, Dean Chamberlin), naturally did not help our standing with the other three candidates in the race (Charlie Rose, Bob Dalzell and Henry Batis).

Even when the three candidates we endorsed won, we lost. Friends, that is.

Some of our long-time friends in this community who were supporters of the losing cause will long maintain that had we recommended one of the losers, it would have meant enough votes to have put him over.

We are conceited enough to be flattered by such thinking. We appreciate it, even if we think it is exaggerated. But it is hardly worth losing friends over.

But apparently it is impossible for some to separate their purely personal feelings from the city's political picture.

But, if we hadn't endorsed anyone, we would have been called chicken...

So there you are...

We wonder what the reaction would have been, if our endorsed candidates would have lost?...

Would we have lost their friendship because the paper had been for them?

An interesting academic question, don't you agree?

ONE GROUP ALSO COMplained that your editor was instrumental in getting one of the candidates to enter the council race...

But then did not endorse him in the newspaper when the time came...

And, there were a number of other inuendos tossed about...

But, as an old pro who has been exposed to political scenes at all levels for an awfully long time, we try to accept all such gaff with as much grace as we can muster.. We just call it an occupational hazard and let it go at that.

But with our short fuse, it does make it a little difficult at times.

But such hazards exist even without an election.

One guy recently complained because The Press had a story BEFORE a planning commission meeting which reported what was to be on the agenda including the staff recommendations.

He thought The Press should have waited until AFTER the meeting.

But just a short time before, another party had raised the dickens because there was nothing in the paper about the items that were to be on the agenda for a previous meeting.

See what we mean about winning and losing.

THIS HAS NOTHING TO do with anything in particular but we couldn't help noting that at a recent City Council meeting one guy almost didn't quit when he was ahead. He talked when he should have been listening.

It was the council meeting that set a record for brevity. The councilmen were really ramrodding items through in a hurry that night.

A motion had been made for approval of a request and the councilmen were all ready to approve it when the applicant asked to be heard.

A banker from San Francisco, he had brought a whole team of experts with him to bolster his case...(extension of time for the Rolling Hills development at Hacienda and San Tomas).

He expounded for some length on the merits of his case while the councilmen impatiently waited for him to finish. They wanted to approve the motion which they had been ready to do before the guy started talking.

There is a moral here some place. But skip it.

Council asks state for ramps

Campbell City Council on Monday night officially asked by resolution the State Highway Commission to declare Campbell Ave. at the freeway an interchange.

The action followed the recommendation of Bill Wren, public works director, who explained that this was the first step necessary in the long struggle to get the much-desired off and on ramps for the freeway to Campbell Ave.

If the commission approves the interchange, then the mechanics and the finances can be worked out for either a "diamond" or "complete loop" system.

In another action, at the request of David Buccholz, commander of the West Valley Post 158, American Legion, the council also by resolution supported the Veteran Bond Act of 1968, originally initiated in 1921 and will be Proposition No. 1 on the June ballot. This will provide $200,000,000 for bonds for the continuance of the state farm and home program for vets.

The council also approved by resolution at the request of the Board of Supervisors the proposed constitutional amendment that would require approval of a majority of the voters for the formation of any special district that would include two or more counties.

Mayor Bill Smeed at the meeting announced the new council committee appointments for the year.

Three ordinances were approved (two relating to an annexation on Bascom near Apricot and one prohibiting pedestrians on freeways and expressways).

The council also approved the payment of transportation for Police Chief John Morgan to Michigan State University to attend the week-long 14th annual National Police and Community Relations seminar, May 19-24.

Chief Morgan has been offered a scholarship from Sheriff Charles Prelsnik to the seminar for professional law enforcement officers. The only cost to the city would be the air travel to and from Michigan State.

years, the developers would get their money back and at the termination of the lease period the building would revert to the city.

At Monday's meeting, all the councilmen agreed that more information was needed before they could decide whether it was the thing to do.

Councilmen Hyde and Chamberlin maintained, however, that since the proposal was made many citizens had contacted them urging the city to take advantage of the "once-in-a-lifetime proposition...

Both said that it would have a tremendous effect on Campbell's image, long a sore spot among loyal Campbell residents.

Chamberlin also added that the council would have to have an excellent reason to turn down the proposal or its "image" would really suffer with the taxpayers..Provided, of course, that it was found to be legal and feasible.

City Attorney Joe Bonacina advised that it would be necessary to get the proposition in writing before any legal opinion on the matter.

Sahadi who was present in the audience said that such a proposition would be ready in a few days for the city's perusual.

The motion to direct the staff to investigate and study the city hall tower project separately from the "701" plan was made by Rogers and carried unanimously.

Board to discuss new bond vote for West Valley College

Whether a new bond issue election should be scheduled in the late summer for the West Valley Junior College District will be discussed by the district trustees at their May meeting.

The suggestion for the bond issue discussion came from Trustee William J. Homan at the board's last meeting when bids were accepted for the lease-purchase of $357,018.23 in casework and seating for the new Science-Mathematics building on the Saratoga campus.

The first building, Engineer-Technology, is due for completion in time for the opening this fall and the science-math structure is scheduled for completion in time for the September, 1969 school opening.

Two separate casework—bids, one for $309,885 and the other for $11,943, went to the Taylor Manufacturing Co., while another bid, for office casework, went to the Holsinger Co., for $17,995. Fixed seating bids for the lecture rooms went to Brunswick Manufacturing Co. for $11,619,23, while the fixed seating work for the building's planetarium went to Holsinger Co. for $6,576.

Wells Fargo Bank with a bid of 4-1/8% interest, was low bidder on the financing aspects of the lease-purchase program.

In a related matter, the Board authorized calling for bids for furniture and shelving for the library complex on the Saratoga campus at an estimated cost of some $15,000.

The Board also confirmed the re-employment of 72 members of the permanent faculty, including 29 granted tenure for the first time, for the 1968-69 school year, as well as the re-employment of 50 probationary faculty members. In this connection, the Board also hired Harriet Huls to teach biological science, and regretfully accepted the resignation of Dr. Dorothy Crouch, biology instructor.

Raffanti home is burglarized

The burglary of the home of Anthony Raffanti, 720 N. Central Ave., has been reported to Campbell Police by his son, Robert Raffanti.

The incident occurred during the night of April 17 while the Raffanti's were on vacation in Palm Springs. Entry was made by forcing a rear service porch door with a pry bar, police said.

Missing are two guns, a colt revolver and a shotgun; $50 in cash and a radio. The bedrooms of the home were in complete disarray, the police report indicated. The burglary was discovered after a neighbor noticed the rear door was ajar.

GRANDMA'S JARS--Linda Cushman displays a dark amber bottle used in early 20th century canning which will be one of some 60 on public exhibition at the West Valley Historical Society Museum this coming Saturday and Sunday from 1-3 p.m. at 272 E. Campbell Ave. There is no charge to visitors to the museum room.

Museum displays canning equipment Saturday

"Hey, Linda, how'd you like to go digging for me this Saturday?"

Pretty blond Linda Cushman, a recreation instructor for Cupertino School District, is "game" to try new things. She'd already tried button collecting and other hobbies and when she was asked to go "digging" for bottles several years ago, she readily agreed.

Now she's hooked.

Not on the conventional bottles, but on canning and milk bottles of the turn of the century. To share her finds, she's going to display some of her precious canning jars at the West Valley Historical Society Museum, Saturday and Sunday, April 27 - 28, from 1-3 p.m.

The unusual collection has not only bottles, but implements used by "grandma" in her annual summer work, such as paring knives and cherry pitters; apple peelers and openers, all which were a standard part of the kitchens of the early 1900s.

Prize specimens include a jar commemorating Abraham Lincoln, a half gallon Mason and some Canadian samples, many colored amber or turquoise. Jar names include, Golden State, Ball, Dominion, Jewel, Mission Lightning and Brown.

Miss Cushman has even found some crockery jars. Some of her most prized possessions, she admits, have been gifts from friends who've invited her to explore their basements, which is where she recently found an 1858 Mason jar.

Presently she is storing the jars rather unconventionally--in boxes made for hard liquors--but hopes when she moves from her Los Gatos home soon that she will be able to display some of the 150 treasures more effectively.

Following the display Sunday, historical society members will convene at 3 p.m. to discuss their second annual historical art show May 23-24. President Jean Gomes will conduct the meeting at the museum, 272 E. Campbell Avenue.

Orchard City Grange celebrates birthday

The sixty-fifth birthday of Orchard City Grange No. 333 was celebrated with an "Hawaiian Night".

The Aloha Choir directed by Irene Lewers of Campbell entertained an overflow crowd in the local Grange Hall. Many beautiful songs of the Islands were sung and the ever popular hula was danced by Mona Cecil. Ted Bohn, Lecturer presented the program. Mrs. Barbara Carter was refreshment chairman for the anniversary celebration. The membership attended the affair attired in Hawaiian costumes and wearing leis.

Campbell, Moreland Little Leagues open season this Saturday

Camden Capers

By Caren Daniels

Wednesday was the big day for song girl anticipants as the student council watched routines and voted six junior girls into the position. Judy Garay, Nanci Inman, Cindy Mannia, Barb Roberts, Pat Scribner and Liz Walker will perform as song girls next year.

Thursday was the day for cheerleader tryouts, with the girls proving their abilities in front of the student body in hopes of favorable voting on Friday. Frosh-Soph yell leaders will be Jeanette Douglas, Sue Evans and Michele Fleury. Varsity cheerleader elections put Chris Andrews, Sherry Buchner, Robin McCormack, Gail Newton and Nancy-Jo Rodrigues on the line.

OPEN HOUSE

Tonight, Wednesday April 24, Camden High School will welcome the public for Open House. Sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, Public Schools Week is held for parents and any interested outsiders to have the opportunity to meet teachers and learn what high school students are doing.

Special events will include woodshop demonstrations, physical education showings, a home economics fashion show, and closed circuit movies of the United Nations programs from the government classes.

The PTA will also elect new officers for next year.

COTTON BALL

Camden is having its 10th annual Cotton Queen Ball on Friday, April 26, from 8-11 p.m. in the cafeteria. All contestants will be wearing cotton dresses sewn entirely by themselves.

Tomorrow's final judging will be on suitability for the occasion, an even hem, good fitting and suitability for age.

The ten finalists will be at the Ball Friday night. At this time, the queen and her two princesses will be announced, and flowers and trophies will be given to each girl. The queen will also be presented with a tiara.

As a reward for hard work on the club's activities, the Ambassadors Club members were given a beach party at Seacliff beach on Saturday, April 20. Sponsor Miss V. Cortese and Lifeguard Coach Charles Platt joined in on the fun and sun at the day-long event.

SPORTS

Camden's Cougar batters are at the head of the league competition presently, having chalked up two more wins in last week's matches. Tuesday's game against Los Gatos was an overwhelming victory, with a score of 18-0. Nine runs were scored in the first inning, and nine runs came in during the sixth inning. Rich Troedson pitched the entire game and gave up only two hits.

Branham was the competition on Thursday, but couldn't gap the margin of 5-2 to win the game.

Cougar tankmen followed suit last week, beating Los Gatos 62-26, and Branham 59-36.

Westmont Whirl

By Laura Vierra

Westmont students were greeted back on their first day by a number of quizzes and tests not at all to the liking of the students who had enjoyed a beautiful Easter vacation.

Westmont students are now living for the summer which looks to be a hot one.

The months of April and May are big ones for all those girls trying out for cheer leader, song girl, drill team and flag girl. All are actively practicing every day after school. Good luck to all!

This last weekend the all-school play "The Bells Are Ringing" was presented. A large crowd attended each night.

A.G.A. is having their annual candy sale. Girls' Sports is now selling candy in order to raise money for scholarships. This year five scholarships of $200 apiece will be given to any qualified senior girl in the district majoring or minoring in physical education.

SPORTS

The Freshman baseball team defeated the Branham Bruins 3-2. Our Freshman team has a record of 6-1 which gives them the number one position.

Our Frosh-Soph was defeated by Leigh Thursday with a score of 8-0. Our varsity team was also defeated at the hands of the Longhorns.

Our track teams defeated the Irvington teams Friday for another victory for the track teams. They are undefeated so far this season.

Westmont swim team went to Samuel Ayer where they defeated their teams.

LONG-LIFE

Florida leads the nation in longevity for both men and women after age 65.

TIJUANA TRASH BAND--Cheri Cristallo, (center) covers her ears, as Curt Sawyer and Chris Vasquez herald the opening of Del Mar High School's rummage sale to be held Saturday and Sunday, April 27-28 in the school cafeteria. High quality rummage is offered for sale. Proceeds will provide funds for new uniforms for Del Mar's marching band.

Del Mar High slates giant rummage sale

Saturday, April 27, marks the opening of one of the largest rummage sale events ever held in the Campbell area.

Although "conducted" by the Del Mar High School Marching Band for the purpose of raising funds for new uniforms, the entire 1,700 student membership and their parents are donating huge quantities of high quality rummage for this gigantic rummage sale.

Along with clothing (children' and teen styles especially) and the usual rummage items, Mrs. Jack W. Schanck, chairman, has listed carpeting, furniture, antiques, bikes and toys –even a white pedestal wash basin and water closet among the spectacular articles to be offered to the public.

The sale will be held at Del Mar High School, 1224 Del Mar Ave., S.J. (off Bascom Ave. near Dick's Super Market) in the cafeteria. Doors will open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, April 27, and from noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday, April 28. An "Everything Goes" sale will start at 2 p.m. on Sunday. Fun and entertainment will be provided by the "Tijuana Trash" Band and rummage galore by the students and parents cooperating on this "self-help" project.

Campbell Corners

by Pat Hebard

The Campbell High Honor Society members went on their annual trip to San Francisco recently. Students had their choice of visiting the Palace of the Legion of Honor or the Federal Reserve Bank in the morning. At 11:30 a.m. the busses again loaded and headed for Fisherman's Wharf for lunch. Students then took cable cars to see the movie of their selection; either "Camelot" or "Gone With The Wind". Students then had an hour and a half to go to dinner and walk around town. They all met the busses at the Civic Center at 7:15 p.m. to return to school.

BAND TRIP

The Buc Band recently returned from their trip to Los Angeles to be in the Disneyland Parade. With the hot weather the band marched throughout the playland and enjoyed free passes on all rides. They also saw the Lovin' Spoonful, a rock group, the Cowsills and the Baja Marimba Band in Disneyland. The three days were enjoyed by all who went.

SPORTS

Campbell's victorious wrestler, Bruno Bicocca, went to national competition in Nebraska last week. Bruno wrestled to rank seventh in the entire nation. Bruno joined with a bay area team which included wrestlers from Los Gatos, Homestead and other local schools. Bruno missed trying out for the Olympics by one wrestling match in which he vied with a 30 year old wrestler.

TWIRP DANCE

The second Twirp Dance of the year is coming up on May 3. At this dance the girls ask the boys. This makes things more exciting. It is going to be an exciting affair with contests going on all week.

Cheerleader, songgirl, Pirette and Flag girl tryouts are all under way.

Workshops have been going on these past few weeks to help girls who are interested. It looks like a good crop for next year.

On Friday, April 19, a representative from Grinnell College, a small private college in Iowa, came to Campbell to talk to interested juniors.

Now's time to clean out trash

A good, vigorous clean-out of trash is one of the smartest things a family can do to keep a home safe from fire.

"It's smart now, during "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up" time, and it's smarter still if you repeat the job at regular intervals throughout the year," says Fire Chief Maxwell.

"Almost everyone's attic, closets and basements get to be the final resting place for clothing, draperies, lamp shades, mattresses, papers--the list is a long one--which seem to be too valuable at the moment to be thrown away. Every bit of it is fuel for destructive fire." Maxwell stated.

"Add a trash can to the three tools you probably are using this Spring--broom, rake and paintbrush. Fill it with all the junk found in your home--stacks of papers and magazines, old furniture, cleaning rags, dust mops, curtains. Make sure you check the basement workshop for shavings, scraps, oily rags, and paint cans. Don't miss the garage either," Chief Maxwell continued.

New agency provides home care service for convalescing patient

Comprehensive home care for patients will be provided in a new, all-embracing program devised by the newly-formed Santa Clara Valley Coordinating Home-Health and Rehabilitation Services, a non-profit agency.

The new organization is based at Campbell Community Hospital, 1650 Winchester Blvd., Campbell, but is designed to serve county-wide according to its administrator, Flora M. Souza, Santa Clara, physical therapist.

Miss Souza points out that this agency will provide the convalescing patient the varied professional services necessary to shorten his disability or increase his potential.

This professional care may be provided by a single, trained person, such as an occupational therapist, or by the coordinated services of a group of therapists and specialists, upon medical determination as to which services are needed.

Services to be offered include the following:

Skilled nursing; home health assistance; physical therapy; occupational therapy; speech therapy; medical social service; nutritional guidance; equipment and appliance service; recreational therapy; psychology; opthalmology; certified audiology; inhalation therapy and vocational counseling.

"The goal is rehabilitation in the fullest sense," she said, "so that the individual may return as soon as possible to his job, and the elderly person be returned to healthful activity," Miss Souza said.

The new agency has been fully licensed by the State and Federal governments for MediCal and Medicare programs, she said.

Services will be provided only by referral by the patient's physician.

Letters to the Editor

GREAT IDEA

Dear Editor:

I could give this letter a title, however, banner lines and titles are left to the editor. As a suggestion it probably should be titled, either "CANS to SATELITES" or "CANNERIES to COMSTAT".

I had the good fortune to attend a study session of the City Council last Tuesday evening and at this session hear Fred Sahadi, present a fantastically creative workable plan for the development of the property he owns on Campbell and Bascom avenues

Having lived in several California cities during my lifetime and watched several of them develop, I hope the citizens of Campbell, appreciate the good fortune they have in having a developer like Fred Sahadi locate in the city.

At the study session the other evening, Sahadi made an excellent presentation of his plans for the development of his property. The creative imagination and effort put into this proposal is astounding. In my opinion the city of Campbell has an opportunity of once in a lifetime and should by all means take advantage of this opportunity. In one "Grand Swoop" the city of Campbell can go into orbit and therefore, Mr. Editor, is the reason for a title to this letter of either, "CANS to SATELITES" or "CANNERIES to COMSTATE".

Campbell has the tools, a city council of capable clear thinking men, an excellent city manager, a very capable public works director, and a planning director with imagination, and then we have Fred Sahadi.

I have been in business in the city of Campbell for over ten years and own property in the city, whick I also want to develop. So in closing I think that the citizens of Campbell, the city council, and all members of the city staffs, should give Fred Sahadi their full cooperation in the development of his proposal.

So let's go citizens of Campbell and get into orbit before it's too late.

Yours very truly,
John C. Vierhus

PROTESTS SALES TAX ON RUMMAGE

Dear George:

Have been racking my brain trying to figure out "to whom" I should write my protest letter–to my congressman, assemblyman, State Board of Equalization, or directly to the governor? I decided to start with the Campbell Press in hopes that it, or its readers, may be able to give me some advice. Please note that I am protesting as an individual and in no way on behalf of any school or organization.

After ten years of helping various clubs conduct rummage sales in order to raise funds for worthwhile purposes–sometimes to outfit Pop Warner Football teams (which were not privately sponsored,) sometimes for the YMCA, and again to help needy youngsters attend summer camps, etc., I have recently learned of a ruling which is being inforced that disturbs me greatly. A 5% State Sales Tax is levied against all monies raised from "non-charitable" rummage sales!

These sales made it possible for hundreds of young boys to learn sportsmanship and self-discipline through contact football, and "kept them off the street." This may not be considered "charitable," but I venture to say that the state has very few athletes being "supported" in its correctional institutions! And isn't sending needy youngsters to summer camp a "charitable" cause? I have even been told that some church groups, raising funds for missionary work etc., must pay this 5% on their rummage profits also!

I am currently involved in a rummage sale for the purpose of helping raise money for the purchase of much needed uniforms for a high school band and find that we must secure a permit and place a deposit with the State Board of Equalization–and then pay 5% of all sale proceeds to the State. Needless to say, I am outraged and indignant over this inequitable ruling. Consider these facts, if you will:

All "rummage" offered for sale is donated by students and parents. It consists of items which are used, outgrown, or un-needed and upon which sales tax has already been collected at time of original purchase.

New band uniforms are to replace old, worn-out ones and are used solely to promote pride, spirit and entertainment for the school and its friends. (The band will not turn professional and thereby gain a monetary "profit" by having new uniforms!)

Tax monies are not available, after the initial appropriation, for choir robes, band uniforms, etc. The students, with the help of PTA's and parents must raise these huge sums (in this case $6,500) if they are to maintain pride in their school and its activities. Car washes, paper drives, pancake breakfasts, rummage sales, etc. are conducted by these kids who would rather "help themselves" than go crying to "State Aid" for their needs!

All "labor" connected with these projects is donated–no one gains a monetary "profit" –except the State, who will then gain another 5% when these new uniforms are purchased!

Assuming (please!) a rummage sale makes $6,500. It must pay a sales tax of $325. Assuming they (are able) then to pay $6,500 for new uniforms, they will again have to pay $325 State Sales Tax. A grand (?) total of $650 in taxes! When our schools are supported by tax money in the first place, I just can't see the justice of this additional revenue from a rummage sale going to the state.

Now, can anyone convince me that this is not double–or even triple taxation? Can anyone convince me that I do not have a legitimate right, or even duty to protest this tax on fund-raising projects? Can anyone direct me to the "proper" authority so that this strangulation of our free enterprise system can be brought to their attention? Can "the voice of the little people" still be heard in America?

Sincerely,
Marge Schanck
1660 Mt. Vernon Dr.
San Jose.

P.S. Some might say that this is a "trivial" matter to get so worked up over–considering the great un-rest now facing our country, but frankly, I feel it is quite indicative!

THANK YOU NOTE

Dear Members of the Press:

The Country Woman's Club wish to thank you for the warm and friendly way you have responded to their need of publicity. We feel you have our welfare at heart. It is a pleasure to have an organization so willing to help in every way in our community and we are very grateful.

A THANK YOU

Dear Mr. Vierhus:

This is not a letter to the people but a private Thank You for printing the notice of Lodge books donated by Rosicrucian Lodge to local library.

Also my appreciation for the courtesy shown me at the desk in your office.

I have been sending copies of The Press to members of my family back in Ohio and they keep asking for more. Also friends in San Francisco they all enjoy your pithy Editorials.

The tradespeople here are so lovely and practice the almost forgotten virtue of courtesy.

Particularly since The Congress which I attended along with officials of the city I have met the most delightful people in a long time.

I have walked many miles thru the city and fallen in love with it. I plan to continue to live here and hope to make a contribution of my time to some needed thing.

Thank you,
Katherine N. Clark

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Congressman Gubser has been in Vietnam as a member of the Armed Services Committee. He has asked his California colleague, Congressman Charles M. Teague (R-Ojai) to serve as his guest columnist this week.

FALSE ECONOMY

By Congressman Charles M. Teague

"In our country, when it comes to spending tax money, 'the President proposes and the Congress disposes.' At least, that's the way it is supposed to work, but it doesn't always.

"Sometimes, after the Congress has disposed (or thinks it has), some funny things happen on the way to the spending of the money. It gets juggled around and isn't spent for the intended purpose, or more of it is spent than there is available or authorized, or sometimes it isn't spent at all–held back to convey an impression of economy.

"There is a Pennsylvania congressman who recently asked the Executive Branch to restore a cutback which had been made in Federal highway funds previously allocated to his State. The reply he received, from a White House employee, was a bit of an affront to his intelligence. It read:

"'As you know, Congress, during the 1967 session instructed the Executive Branch to reduce appropriations and expenditures. The reductions which are now being made are in conformity with the letter and spirit of the Congressional mandate.'

"The fact is that the Highway Trust Fund is just that–a trust, in its most literal sense–a fund that cannot be expended by as much as one cent for any purpose other than highway development. Nor can any of it be shown on the Treasury books as a 'saving' if it is not spent as intended.

"Highway Trust Funds and their expenditure cannot be considered to be 'inflation prone' because they are separate and apart from general funds of the Treasury. They are in an earmarked account fortified solely by taxes on sales of gasoline, oil, automobiles and accessories.

"Congress did not mandate the Executive Branch to reduce expenditures from the Highway Trust Fund. The instruction was for a reduction to be effected on low-priority items in the general budget. Furthermore, use of the Fund is a 'pay-as-you-go' operation. It is a revolving fund, not a part of the 'credit card philosophy' of this Administration that pumps money into the economy that is not on hand and, in the process, feeds the flames of inflation. This Fund is not meant for accumulation; it is meant for steady expenditure to hasten the day when the highway development requirements of our country are met in their entirety.

"It should be remembered that one of the purposes of Federal participation in highway construction is to reduce the hazards to life, limb and property that exist on our public roads. To delay these projects is, indeed, false economy."

Chief Morgan in Sacramento

Chief of Police John Morgan attended the Governor's Conference on Delinquency Prevention held earlier this week in Sacramento. Headquarters were at the Senator Hotel. Delegates to the conference had been nominated by Delinquency Prevention Commissions and the Juvenile Justice Commission of counties throughout California.

Chief Morgan was assigned the chairmanship of one of the sessions. Purpose of the conference was to stimulate interest in delinquency prevention programs in the respective communities and to implement these programs with the rudiments of actual program planning.

It is hoped that those attending the conference in Sacramento will carry out similar working conferences in their own communities.
